

Expert Consultation on the Impact of Violence on Children in Central America

Concept Note -- Honduras

2014

Background

Central America faces some of the highest rates of violence in the world. Gang violence, organised crime, and domestic violence create environments where children's safety is severely compromised.

Objectives

- * Examine the specific impacts of violence on children in Central America
- * Review evidence on effective prevention and response programmes
- * Identify regional good practices
- * Develop recommendations for governments and the international community

Format

Two-day consultation bringing together government officials, UN agencies, civil society, and independent experts from Central America and beyond.
